Granville Island. We have seen the future and it floats. Sheltering behind the Emily Carr College of Art is a graceful community of floating houses and live-aboard sailboats which seemed to combine all the good things of sea and city. Our own blend of nauticality and urbanity, the HMS coat, fits in perfectly. HMS is fine Austrian braid on navy wool loden--or red, or (soon we expect) white. Made in and for the Port of Vancouver. HMS coat, $425, matching loden skirt $180, shirt and silk tie, $230.

RILL

Elsewhere on the waterfront, the ruffled collar and hem of our RILL suit recall the rounded wavelets of the late-afternoon harbour. RILL comes in khaki, navy, green, or Aegean blue Austrian loden--a pure wool fabric treated by a special felting process to combine lightness and body (important for the ruffles), damp resistance, and long life. RILL, $545.

NARCISSUS

Clean lines,
pure white,
the herald
of spring!
This breezy
cotton two-
piece dress
comes with
a square, V,
or boat neck-
line. Top, $65; skirt,
$95. A
longer mid-
calf skirt is
also available for $110.
The wide belt
is $40.

Alterations Policy

We are happy to offer our customers increased free alterations. As of now, free alterations of new LMW's will be extended to two hours for garments of $200 and up, and one hour for garments under $200.

To custom cut and fit clothes is more costly than to alter them. More supervisory attention is required, as well as additional cutting and sewing time. For this reason we must continue to charge, for the extra cutting and sewing time, our regular rate of $30 per hour.
