EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR OVER HALF A CENTURY

A competent legal authority has said that considerably more than half the people who leave estates neglect to make a will directing the distribution of their assets.

If a man dies without making a will, the law steps in and designates those who are to receive his property, and says what shares will go to each. This rigid law, which is designed for general application, does not suit every family.

We shall be glad to co-operate with you and your legal advisor in planning your will to the best advantage of those concerned. Our long experience in dealing with the problems of taxation, succession duties, investments, and estate administration qualifies us to offer helpful suggestions.

With a sound will drawn in proper legal form, and with The Royal Trust Company named as your executor, you may be sure your family will receive the maximum comfort and security to be obtained from your estate.

*You are invited to consult our officers,
